Engineer From Columbus

6 1 2

Chapter 1 by Gundars Noviks

There was a man with a fan in his ages of life. He was wasting electricity with his fan all day long. The fan was very busy and didn't rest for hours of working. The man all day was watching TV series like his fan would do. But then fan accepted the way is that and he just left him, because he was running late to job. Fan worked as a local engineer in Columbus Air Facility. The job was amazing but also hard. Fan has a name - Troy.

Troy was a hard-working man and very friendly to his family and friends. He was amazed by football and baseball. He played video games in free time - it was great for him to train his mind. The family he had was huge.

Chapter 2 by Gundars Noviks

It was next morning. Like always - he had a one job. He was set to work with new project that he with his brother invented to prevent ecological litter from cities. His brother trusted Troy, because they grow up together. They played ball and some other games. They competed in Pac-Man tournaments in their local arcade centre. They were really happy growing up together, but then the sadness happened. The parents split and Troy was staying here with his sister and mom. The brother Jake moved with his father to New Mexico, because their dad had found job there as a local engineer like Troy. So after almost 8 years Troy graduated college. Jake was two years older. Troy got some ideas to make world better.

He called Jake about idea and after some months, the work process began.

Now they are working for this project almost one year. They say that this will be done in seven weeks.
